

Narberth Food Festival Art & Craft Event
Oriel Q – Queen’s Hall Gallery, 25 & 26 September 2010

Artists, photographers, ceramicists, potters, sculptors, craftspeople

Would you like to exhibit your work in the Queen’s Hall, Narberth during the weekend of Narberth Food Festival – 25 & 26 September 2010?

Fantastic response and increased numbers - 8000 plus in 2009 - have encouraged us to offer even more to our visitors. We plan to run a showcase of arts and crafts alongside the main festival that takes place on the Town Moor and in the old school playground. This event will be housed in the adjacent Queen’s Hall under the auspices of Oriel Q – Queens Hall Gallery.

To ensure high standards and good quality, exhibitors will be selected and invited by the Friends of the Gallery under the guidance of Lynne Crompton, the gallery’s curator and manager.

Stalls for the Food Festival are £120 (£150 after the end of May) but we recognise that art and craft individuals could not risk paying out this amount. To encourage you to participate, we are offering a deal involving £15 per stall to the Festival plus 10% of sales to the Gallery, which will subsidise the rental of space and publicity.

All stallholders will be listed on a page of the Food Festival website once their application is accepted - compare the 2010 Stallholders page. They will also be listed in the printed Festival Programme.

We are giving you plenty of time to work towards this exhibition and encourage you to make things food-related - but this is not a condition of acceptance.
